HOLLAND, Mich. - April 16, 2014 – Haworth, Inc. today released its list of 2014 Best In Class dealerships. The annual distinction is awarded to dealerships based on exceptional performance in marketing and brand development, sales and customer satisfaction, operational excellence as well as enterprise development.

“Haworth appreciates the example our Best In Class dealers set in their markets,” said Rob Hendrickson, Haworth director of dealer development. “An exceptional customer experience is only possible when we and our network of dealers have a shared vision as well as defined actions to turn that vision into reality.”

Each year, Haworth’s Best In Class standards become more rigorous. In 2014, the global manufacturer continued to improve its criteria to maintain alignment with its product and sales strategy. Among the 31 Best In Class dealers, 23 have earned the distinction in multiple years.

“Dealers that are multi-year Best In Class designees exemplify a commitment to high performance and the maintenance of rigorous standards over time,” said Hendrickson.

Haworth works with a network of more than 250 North American dealerships — independent businesses — that provide sales and support to customers by helping architects, designers and facility managers in the complex process of selecting, specifying, planning and purchasing furniture and workspace interiors.
